Dear Dr. Graham,

This is another installment of my personal experience with the cold laser therapy. Recently I fulfilled a welfare farm assignment where we spent a solid two hours of digging thick clay-like mud out of the ditch surrounding the farm. As is my nature, I gave it my all in exhausting myself in the task of digging the 4-6 inches of very hard, thick mud out of five foot deep ditches. It was back breaking work. After two hours without a break I was exhausted. I went straight home and put on the Fatigue Recovery Protocol, which consisted of 6 minutes of laser applied to my mid neck. Not only did I have plenty of energy to plant two more fruit trees in more own back yard and do my Saturday mowing and trimming, but I had no soreness the following days after the heavy workout of my back and shoulders. That was the real miracle. How many times do we complete a heavy task or unusually hard workout and then pay for it the rest of the week with stiff, sore muscles. No need for that with the 6 minute Fatigue Recovery Protocol.
